H. S. Parents, Teachers Hold Initial Meeting

Reception in Cafeteria Opens Year; 1944-5 Programs Are Announced

Teachers and parents of Antioch Township High school students were given an opportunity to make or renew acquaintanceship in enjoyable fashion at the reception with which the school's Parent-Teacher association opened its year Monday evening.

The gathering, held in the school cafeteria, opened with a brief business meeting in which Mrs. Helen Funkhouser was elected secretary to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Mildred Krusa.

Members of the teaching staff were introduced by T. R. Birkhead, principal, who also conducted a tour of inspection through the high school building.

Mrs. W. C. Petty gave a review of the Fairfax Downey book, "Jezebel the Jeep." Songs by Mabel Lou Hunter and Marion Schulz, and community singing, for which Hans von Holwede furnished the instrumental accompaniment, completed the program.

Refreshments were served to 50 afterward. Miss Leitha Paasen and Miss Shirley Reynolds poured at a table set with a lace tablecloth, and a centerpiece of pink garden flowers flanked with candles.

Waukegan Man To Speak
The association's next meeting will be on Monday evening, Oct. 16, when Glenn Anderberg of the Waukegan Township High school teaching staff will speak on "This Thing Called Guidance."

"Student Night" is to be observed Nov. 20, with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pratt of Oak Park presenting a "Travologue of Old Mexico."

The Dec. 18 meeting will feature the annual Red Cross benefit program—a concert by the high school band and chorus, under the direction of Hans von Holwede.

Ensuing programs as announced this week in the association's year-book, are to be as follows:

Jan. 15—"Side-lights of the Motion Picture Industry," James P. Prindle, Lake Villa.

Feb. 19—"Federal Aid for Education," R. L. Newenham, assistant Lake county superintendent of schools.

Mar. 19—"Vocational Guidance," George S. Speer, dean of Y. M. C. A. college, Chicago.

April 16—"Programs to be arranged by high school teaching staff."

May 21—"Annual installation of officers."

The P.T.A. officers, headed by Mrs. J. B. Fields, president, include Mrs. Robert McCann, vice-president; Mrs. Funkhouser, secretary; Mrs. Harry Krueger, treasurer.

Committees include Mrs. Amos P. Bratude, Mrs. L. C. Scott, T. R. Birkhead, program; Mmes. Lester Nelson, Clete Vos and Henry Harvey, and Mrs. Ethel Dixon, hospitality; Mrs. George Good, Miss Shirley Reynolds, publicity; Mmes. Roy Kufalk, Curtis Wells, James Prindle and Donald Holem, membership.

Richard G. Boyer, War Correspondent, Injured in France

Attracting considerable attention since it was placed on display in the window of the Antioch News office is a group of German souvenirs sent to Dan S. Boyer of Cedar Crest Acres, Lake Villa, by his son, Richard G. Boyer, war correspondent with the News of War Information in France. Richard Boyer went over to France the day England on D-Day, and was hospitalized for injuries received. Chas. A. Pyle was riding in a jeep in which he and correspondents Knickerbocker and Pyle were riding collided with a Red Cross Ambulance at night. Boyer has now recovered and returned to duty.

The articles he sent home include a German officer's helmet with camouflage cover, two privates' caps and an aviator's cap. The privates' caps bear the insignia of what is said to be Hitler's favorite panzer division.

Rescue Squad Answers Two Calls During Week

Mrs. Mary Hegeman, 82, who has been in poor health for some time, was removed from her home on Lake Street to the Lake County General Hospital by the Antioch Rescue squad Wednesday evening.

Monday afternoon, the squad was called to Grayslake to administer oxygen to a heart case until the Grayslake fire department, which was reported out on a call, could take over.

Injury, Lost Wallet Lot of "Les" Osmond

Troubles come not singly, but doubly, for Lester Osmond of 950 Hillside avenue, rural mail carrier on Antioch route 1.

On Monday, while operating a corn-binder in a field on his place, he had the tip of the second finger on his left hand almost severed when a cornstalk flew up and drove his hand into the gears. An effort is being made to save the finger, although the success of the endeavor will not be known until the end of the week.

A week ago Saturday night, Osmond suffered the loss of a wallet containing valuable personal papers and records as well as the sum of about $90 in cash.

The wallet, which was being used by his daughter, Mrs. Eileen Lewin, at the time, was believed to have been lost somewhere between Reeves' drug store and the library.

Herman Rosing is carrying the mail on Route 1 during Osmond's absence.

News of the Boys in Service

From Robert J. Sheehan, coxswain, somewhere in New Guinea, comes word of a regular reunion.

"I wish to inform you that I get the Antioch News regularly now, over here in the jungles, and believe me, it is very interesting and most welcome. I sure enjoy reading the News of the Boys in Service. I read the News over several times, even the Want Ads."

"I have come to the conclusion that it is a small world after all, as my brother Warren and Don Minto dropped in to say hello a few days ago. We had a long visit and talked about good old Antioch News. Warren and Don looked very good and seemed to be in good spirits. They said that they had met George Sterbenz and Bud Mapethorpe in Australia.

"I visit Simon Edelmann from Antioch quite often here, and have met a fellow here whom I used to work with at the Public Service company in Waukegan before we entered the service. I am fine and we are very busy, but us Sea Bees can take it."

"As ever, Bob

"P. S.—I send many thanks again to the News and the Legion for what you are doing."

State Leaders Inspect Lakes Area Waterways

Anticipate Post-War Plans for Recreational Development of Region

Looking forward to a post-war era when the great Chain of Lakes region will become to an ever-increasing degree a vast outdoor vacationists' and sportsmen's playground, Illinois legislators and conservation leaders made a tour of inspection through the lakes last Thursday as guests of the Antioch Lions club.

Three launch-boats and one speedboat load of visitors and Antioch Lions members made the journey, starting from Grass lake and proceeding to the site of the proposed bridge to link Grass Lake road with the west shore of the lake.

From there, the journey continued through Nippersink and Pistakee lakes to the dam on the Fox river at McHenry. The return trip included an excursion through Fox lake, past the state conservation school at the junction of Fox and Petite lakes, and back through Grass lake again.

The journey to the conservation school on the old J. K. Dering estate, where a steak dinner was served to 80, was made by automobile. The day's program opened with a buffet luncheon served at the Pregenzer resort on Grass lake.

Distinguished Visitors

Legislators present included Sens. Ray Paddock, William G. Knox, Peter Kielmansi, and Arthur J. Bidwell.

Rep. Nicholas M. Keller, Thomas A. Bolger, Harold D. Kelsey, Michael E. Hannigan, William G. Thon, Arthur M. Kaindl, Lottie Holman O'Neil, Reed F. Cutler, W. O. Edwards and J. Ward Smith, all of whom are influential committee members and interested in fostering the natural resources of the state.

State departments represented and their delegates included the Illinois Department of Waterways, Thomas M. Casey, acting chief engineer, L. E. Alswed, district engineer; conservation department, Livingston E. Osborne, director; M. M. Littman, publicity director; state highway department, C. H. Apple, R. J. Cash, and R. M. Brown, engineers; department of revenue, J. E. Webber.

Also taking part in the tour were former Senator George M. Maypole of Chicago and Ingleside, who has been interested in bringing about a conservation program for the Chain of Lakes; William L. Just, publisher of the Waukegan News-Sun; Mrs. E. H. Huntington, Gayle L. Bush, Mrs. W. H. Roy.

Acting as toastmaster for the dinner in the evening was William L. Marks of Lake Villa.

Joedelke Welcomes Guests

The address of welcome on behalf of the Lions club was given by George Joedelke, president.

State Conservation Director Osborne, who has asked the cooperation of Lion organizations throughout the state in directing attention to conservation as a part of the Illinois post-war program, spoke briefly, telling of the possibilities of the lakes region as a conservation and recreational area. He also told something of the work being done at the conservation school and of its plans for next year.

Praise for the lakes area and for the conservation program outlined was given by Sen. Kielmansi, of Chicago, who pledged his support for furthering work in this area.

Toastmaster Marks concluded the talks with the observation that the lakes area has had more visitors during the past two years than any other part of the state, and that the limits of its potentialities as a recreation area have still been far from realization.

He called attention to the need for a bridge at Grass Lake road, and for additional dredging to improve the waterways.

Start Already Made

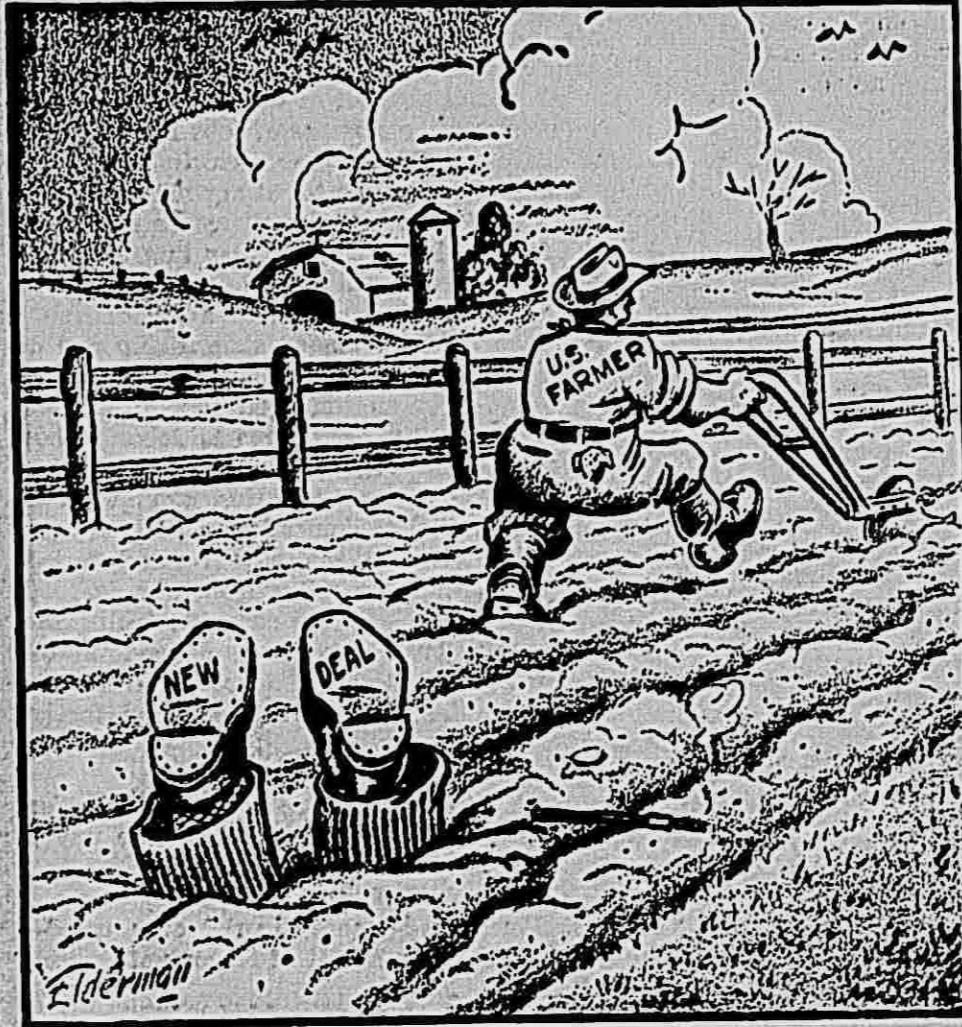

In observations made by both guests and hosts during the afternoon and evening, it was noted that the state already owns 4,500 acres of land in the Chain O'Lakes park area which was being developed prior to the outbreak of the war.

Music during the dinner hour was furnished by Alice Swade, piano and magnavox player; Hans von Holwede, pianist and accordionist; Paul Sheldon and Adam Dick, singers. Community singing was also enjoyed.

On the program committee for the evening were Harry J. Krueger, William M. Marks, Dan S. Boyer, C. K. Anderson, James Stearns and William A. Rosing.

The committee in charge of financial arrangements consisted of J. P. Miller, F. J. Arnold, Ben R. Burke, Louis Bauer.

This Year's Plow-Under

Fred Warner Place at Channel Lake Is Looted

Gaining access by forcing open a kitchen door, burglars looted the Fred Warner home on Route 173 at Channel lake of articles valued at more than $600 Saturday night.

Missing articles included a Marlin 12-gauge slide action shot gun, Remington 10-gauge double barrel shot gun; a Colt .22 repeating rifle, a Johnson five horse power outboard motor, a Neptune three horse power outboard motor; a gold Elgin watch and chain; a black zipper bag containing clothing, an unopened quart of whiskey and $4 in money.

It is believed that whoever ransacked the house was aware that Warner would not be home for several hours, and that there was little chance of being disturbed by tenants of cottages on the Warner property.

No clues have as yet been obtained as to the identity of the person or persons who took an outboard motor belonging to Fred Yates last week, but apparently became frightened away before being able to secure two other motors.

The motor which was taken was removed from the clamps with which it was attached to the boat.

This is the second time that motors belonging to Yates have been stolen. The second loss was covered by insurance, but on the first occasion it was not.

Firemen Will Hold Meeting Tuesday Night

Plans for Antioch's observance of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 7-14, will be continued by the fire department at a meeting Tuesday evening in the fire station.

Fire Chief L. R. VanPatten and a number of the firemen spent last Friday evening cleaning up the station and checking over equipment.

Recent fire calls include two on Saturday, Sept. 9, in the morning at 11:15. The Antioch department was called to the Otto Marz home, Russell, where a roof fire in a shed where grain and machinery were stored caused a $200 loss.

The cause of the fire was unknown, but defective wiring was considered a possibility.

In the evening of the same day, an overflow of oil from an oil burner in the basement of the Froste Sno plant caught fire, but no damage resulted.

Upholstery in a car owned by Einar Sorenson, Channel Lake, was damaged when the vehicle caught fire as it was parked in front of Sorenson's resort Wednesday evening at around 11:45 o'clock. The Antioch fire department was called when the fire was discovered by a passer-by, who notified Sorenson.

New Opportunities

Our nation has long enjoyed superior distribution of its domestic products to consumers. In the not distant future, it will enjoy a similar distribution of world products. That this is no idle dream is evidenced by the announcement of low-cost commercial air service designed to expand postwar international trade and tourist travel. One line has already announced passenger fares to compete with steamships and has made drastic cuts on cargo rates.

To gain some idea of the potential international cargo business, it is interesting to note that domestic air express totaled 48,689 shipments in July, an increase of 16.7 per cent over July 1943, according to the Railway Express Agency. This is a foretaste of the volume that will develop with expanded international trade. Combination air and rail express service for the shipping public is accomplished through the co-ordination of schedules which link the 350 airport cities in the United States and Canada with the 23,000 off-air-line offices of the Railway Express Agency.

With the coming postwar aviation program, unimagined avenues of trade will be blazed to every corner of the world. Our distribution system is now being co-ordinated to render a service never before dreamed of. Thousands of new jobs will come into being along with thousands of new opportunities for advancement.

American enterprise is ready and waiting for the starting signal.

Where Jobs Come From

The job producing possibilities of foreign trade and a larger merchant marine are not as yet fully understood by the people of the United States. For example, many of our most important employing industries export from 10 to 50 per cent of their production.

Robert H. Patchin, Vice-President, W. R. Grace & Company, gives figures which are of interest to workers everywhere. They show that automobile exports accounted for 1 2/3 months of the total annual employment in that industry; for two months employment in agricultural implements and machinery; 3 1/3 months in the tractor industry; 4 1/3 months in the power-driven machinery industry; 1 1/2 months in the printing and book-binding industry. These examples are typical of many others.

"The United States cannot produce all the things it needs. Nor can it consume all the things it must grow and make in order to provide a high level of employment. Exports and imports are bound to assume a larger importance to the national welfare in terms of employment," said Mr. Patchin.

"But the jobs are not merely those in field or factory. Every item of export and import trade requires an infinite variety of labor and service before, during and after the article takes form. For this reason, no satisfactory enumeration is possible of the amount of employment in man-hours or the number of jobs for which our foreign trade is responsible. Many agricultural products enter into manufactured exports, but are not credited to agriculture in export statistics. Vastly more corn is exported in the form of lard and pork than in grain.

"American exports create employment from the time a hoe is stuck in the ground, or a ton of iron is taken from the earth, until loaded aboard ship and delivered in a foreign market. And this is true of imports as well as exports. For an imported article, from the time it is landed on the dock, creates labor. Those planning jobs for returning soldiers and sailors, and workers released from war industries, should realize that foreign trade is vital to domestic prosperity."

It is well for our citizens who may live and work to produce a thousand or more miles from our seaports, and who have never even seen the ocean, to realize that their jobs or their businesses may depend on our future foreign trade. It therefore behoves all of us to take an interest in the development of sound foreign trade relations.

SURPRISE! LT. WINFIELD TURNS IN "REPORT" ON "HANK" QUEDENFELD

"I had a 48-hour pass the first and second and went over to Bristol, England," Second Lt. Orville R. Winfield writes to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Winfield of Bristol, Wis., "to see Hank Quedenfeld.

"I finally found his outfit, but when I got there he was out for dinner. They live in one part of town, have an office in the middle of town and eat at a camp on the other side of town.

"He didn't know I was coming, so I decided to give him a good surprise. His C. O. is a 1st lieutenant, and he invited me to go eat dinner with him and told a couple of enlisted men in the office to get hold of Hank and get him down there right away, he wanted to see him, and told them not to tell him I was there.

"We went out to eat and when we came back this first lieutenant went in and told Hank he had a report of an accident he had not reported, and started giving him He—. Then he told him it was signed by Lt. Winfield.

"By that time I was standing right behind him and said 'Hi, Hank!' and he darn near fell over. We had a nice visit and had quite a few 'biters' together. I was with him for about 24 hours.

"Nearly all the fellows that were here in England from around home are over in France now. We had quite a time checking up on all the guys we know.

"The next pass I get, I'm going up to see Jim Mapleton, Hank's brother Roy Quedenfeld.

"Thanks for sending those clippings out of the Antioch News. I still haven't gotten any of the papers."

"Roger Brogan and Gilbert Haisma are also stationed here. We are in the same battalion, but in different companies. I don't get to see them very often. The army manages to keep us pretty busy."

"I think Roger and Gilbert both agree with me on my opinion of Texas. As far as I'm concerned, they can give Texas back to the Spanish people, or whoever will have it. I'll take good old Illinois any day. This country is too sandy and hot to suit me."

"Along about the end of October I will be through with my basic training and will have a furlough coming up. It sure will be good to get back in the 'old home town.'

A Visitor to the Hideout

No Coddling for Hermit, 87; Just Wants Seclusion

Made His Own Lonely Life For 48 Years, Wants to End It That Way.

GUINNISON, COLO.—Robert Nelson, 87-year-old hermit of the Black Canon, is a man unto himself. He wants no part of civilization, no coddling, none of the help usually accorded men of his age.

For 48 years he has made his own secluded life. He wants to wind it up that way.

Why Bob Nelson segregated himself in the mountain fringed cow-town of the Southwestern Rockies is his secret, and probably never will be told. But he's neither unsocial nor shy.

The aged but stalwart native of Sweden came out of his refuge this winter, but only with coaxing. His mountain cabin, perched on a ledge in the towering canon, had burned.

Section workers, his only contact with the outside world, appealed vainly to him to leave a frigid hewn-out cleft in the mountain wall.

Finally Sheriff H. G. Lashbrook climbed the difficult trail and induced Nelson to return to Gunnison.

Puzzled by Gadgets.

Steam heat, running water and electric lights offered only puzzling annoyance to the old man. Though it was well below zero, he raised the window and placed his reading table near it. The sheriff taught him how to turn on the light by pulling a cord, and to get water by turning a faucet. Nelson always had taken his water from a running mountain brook and it wasn't easy to change.

When Bob Nelson left Gunnison nearly a half century ago he picked a cabin site 10 miles inside the canon where black granite walls lift 200 to 400 feet to the skies.

When winter and spring snows did not clog the canon route, passing Rio Grande trainmen would toss newspapers into Nelson's waiting hands. He seldom saw anyone else.

By his own perseverance and hard work he cultivated the ledge land as a truck garden. He acquired a yearling bull calf and trained it to haul boulders on a crude sled. Others he carried out on his shoulders. He planted fruit trees. He fished.

Travels for Necessities.

Infrequently Nelson would trudge to Sapinero or Cimarron for the only necessities his own hands couldn't provide—sugar and syrup and flour.

Nelson's sense of fairness was known to those who once each year marketed his cherries. Once his crop netted $6.50. "That," he protested, "is too much, give some of it back." Again when his closest friend, C. B. Pond of Grand Junction, brought him a supply of sugar, Nelson refused to pay seven cents per pound, and ordered Pond to return it.

Meat Lures Mama Away, Zookeepers Move Cubs

PHILADELPHIA.—Keepers dangled a chunk of horsemeat in front of Fawsa, the Philadelphia Zoo's lioness, and she followed the bait from her own den to another.

Then the keepers, for the first time, were able to get close to Fawsa's cubs, born April 19. Previously they had been visible only when their mother picked them up from their wooden box or when they managed to crawl out.

The cubs were taken to the zoo's baby-pet branch where Curator Roger Conant said visitors might get a chance to pet them.

$565 Bath Dampens the Shore Leave of Sailor

PORTLAND, ME.—A sailor's shore leave was dampened by a bath which cost him $565.

Delmar Roberts of St. Louis, a mess attendant on a merchant ship, told police he had had that sum in his money belt which he never had removed except to bathe.

Apparently, in the excitement of preparing for shore leave, he forgot to replace it after a bath. When he finally remembered it an hour later, it had disappeared, he added.

Youth Brandishes Gun, Woman, 71, Says 'No'

OMAHA, NEB.—A 14-year-old youth brandished a loaded revolver under the nose of Miss Barbara Graham, 71-year-old grocery clerk in a holdup attempt.

"Young man, you ought to be ashamed of yourself," the 90-pound clerk snapped at him. "You come along with me."

She took him by the arm and hurried him out of the store. With an undignified howl the youth fled, to be recaptured later by police.

Strange Mishap Reveals Mixup in Automobiles

NEOSHO, MO.—The police department's aspirin supply hit a new low recently when officers began looking into an automobile accident.

Mrs. Phyllis Foster overturned in a car which had been lent her by Jimmie McGowen, but which really belonged to F. M. Pophan. Then when police started looking for McGowen, they discovered he had left town in a car belonging to Mrs. Foster.

Gains Popularity

Because it is easy to grow, yields all season, and excels in vitamins which cauliflower lacks, broccoli is rapidly gaining popularity as a home garden vegetable. The flavor is much like cauliflower, but the heads are green, signifying nutritive value.

Ration Liquor

Rationing of hard liquors by Montana and Michigan recently brings to 13 the number of states limiting liquor sales to stretch diminishing supplies and to prevent hoarding. All 13 states are "liquor monopoly" states, of which there are 17.

Tired Canary Tries

To Crash Night Club

BOSTON.—A tired canary was cared for at an animal rescue league after an unsuccessful attempt to crash the Club Mayfair, a Boston night club. The bird escaped while undergoing treatment at the animal hospital and three hours later workers at the night club reported the canary was giving a concert outside the kitchen door.

Double Trouble, Belies Its Name

Remarkable Deeds of Yanks With Battered Machine.

ANZIO BEACHHEAD.—"Double Trouble," a tank that belies its name, rumbled back from the Alban hills at dusk with a shell hole in its nose, red wine in a water can and 13 German prisoners trailing behind.

Steering his aged steel monster to the nearest mechanical surgeon, Sgt. Ralph Johnson poked his dusty face out of the driver's seat and grinned "we are trading it to-night for another one—"Triple Trouble."

Cracked Beachhead Line.

The 22-year-old Kentuckian from Louisville, who had to leave his bride of six weeks to come overseas, was the first tanker to drive across the Cisterns-Rome railroad and crack the German beachhead line.

While machine-guns bullets spat-tered against "Double Trouble's" rugged frame, Gunner Corp. Arthur Boenzi of Route 9, St. Louis, fired at everything—Kraut going down in dugouts and Kraut climbing trees."

When the platoon leader, Lieut. Walter Russell of "somewhere on Long Island," lost his own tank on crumple, he hailed "Double Trouble," limbed in and the sortie continued over the rolling hills.

"About 1,000 yards beyond the rail- way embankment "Double Trouble" shuddered and stopped. A German 88 still had squashed in the face of the tank."

"A He deviation to the right and we'd all been scrubbed," said Sergeant Boenzi. "But Lieutenant Russell got out and decided our howitzer wasn't fit for shooting and told us we didn't need us as a machine gun platoon. Then he hunted up his old tank of the day and resumed the attack. What a guy!"

Dispute Over Boiling.

Eggs Cause of Slaying

DETROIT.—In fight that resulted from an argument over the boiling of two eggs, Doris Neal, 15, shot and killed her father, Jacob, 48, in their home, police reported.

Charles W. Jones, assistant prosecutor, said Doris told him that she had returned from a store, where she works afternoons, about 7:15 p. m.

"I went to the kitchen to get something to eat," she explained. "After boiling the eggs for about five minutes pa remarked that they were done. I said I didn't think so.

"He accused me of sassing him."

An argument ensued and he struck her several times, she said. She then said he followed her into the dining room, knocked her down, sat on her, and proceeded to hit her in the face until she apologized.

Enraged over the beating, Doris went to a bedroom, took an old army revolver from the wall, returned to the dining room, and shot her father three times, once in the forehead and twice in the chest, she told Jones.

Waits in Parking Lot

8 Days for Errant Dog

NEWARK, N. J.—A little thin but happy, Tony was reunited with his mistress, Mrs. Gertrude Vachal, who spent eight days in a Newark parking lot awaiting the return of the runaway white fox terrier.

The dog, cherished companion of Mrs. Vachal's 75-year-old ailing father, Edward R. Salisbury of Niantic, Conn., ran away from the woman's automobile here. It was feared news he was missing might have a serious effect on the sick man's condition.

Wandering Tony, fed and bathed on the sly by firemen of Engine Company 2 when his presence was resented by the company mascot "Beaute," found Mrs. Vachal waiting for him when he came patterning down Centre street to the firehouse. Fire Capt. James J. Walsh recognized pictures of Tony. The dog, he said, had been hanging around for several days.

Crew Bails Out, Bomber

Flies Four Hours Alone

DENISON, IOWA.—A four-engine bomber from the Sioux City, Iowa, army air base flew over sections of two states for four hours with no one aboard before crashing on the side of a ravine two miles northwest of here.

The plane crashed more than 100 miles from where the 10 crew members and a bombardier instructor bailed out when fire broke out on the ship. The fire evidently burned itself out during the trip.

The fliers left the plane in the vicinity of Belden and Wayne, in northeastern Nebraska. None was injured seriously. Denison is in northwestern Iowa, 75 miles southeast of the Sioux City base and almost directly east of Wayne.

BUY WAR BONDS AND STAMPS.

We're doing all we can to shorten the waiting list

BUT —

Here are 4 reasons why you may have to wait for your new telephone

1. The country's armed forces and war producers must have vast quantities of telephone equipment — these increased demands have used up our reserve supplies —
2. Equipment that could be reconditioned and reused has already been pressed into service —
3. Telephone switchboards are now carrying more lines than they were designed to take.
4. We have done many things to serve more and more people, but there's still a list waiting for telephone service. If your name is on that list, please be sure we will care for your needs as soon as possible.

PUT WASTE-PAPER TO WAR WORK! The need is vital.

FOR CONGRESS CLUB

Curtis D. MacDougall

Curtis D. MacDougall is an eminent editor, author, lecturer and educator. He is an independent thinker, an anti-isolationist and a leader in organizations promoting civil liberties and better government. Of his opponent the Chicago SUN editorialized June 4, 1944: "In four years he has gained no distinction either in committee work or in debate. If he ever sponsored a bill, nobody has heard of it — a second-rate cipher."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Yea, I'm afraid there's no denyin' it, Judge...jeeps and trucks and other kinds of motorized equipment have taken the place of the good old horse in modern warfare."

"It's true of lots of things in this war, Eben. Every day we hear of new tactics and requirements and new uses of products. For instance, take the alcohol that is used for war purposes. In World War I, this vitally needed product was used mostly in making smokeless powder, chemical warfare materials and medical supplies. Today it must do far more...it must provide the base for such indispensable products as synthetic rubber, shatterproof glass, lacquers, plastics and many other of our requirements so essential to victory.

"As a result hundreds of millions of gallons are required every year...half of which is being produced by the beverage distilling industry. Bet you didn't know that, Eben."

"As a matter of fact, I didn't, Judge. That's a mighty important war contribution that had escaped me completely."

Red Cross Notes

The Lake Villa unit for making surgical dressings reopened March 13, 1944 and meets at a class-room, not in use, which was generously offered by the school-board. This room is being used exclusively by the unit and the tables and materials are always ready for the classes. Seven women were on hand to resume work the first day, and from that time on, the group has met every Monday evening and Thursday afternoon. The attendance has varied from 6 or 7 to 15 or 18 at a session. At present, when the need for workers is urgent and large quotas of dressings to be completed, the attendance has not been what we had hoped for. Can't you find time again to attend at least once a week—you will be so welcome.

Lake Villa unit has given more than 1400 hours and has made more than 18,000 dressings of the desired sizes since the opening in March up to Sept. 15. In addition to the dressings, some women who find it impossible to attend the classes at the school, are working at their homes and making kit bags for soldiers.

Destroy Pirates

The two most notorious pirates to frequent the coast of North Carolina—Edward Teach (Blackbeard) and Stede Bonnet, were both run to earth by out-of-state authorities. Governor Eden of North Carolina and other officials were suspected of being in league with the freebooters. In 1718, Virginia sent two ships into North Carolina and they caught Blackbeard off Ocracoke and destroyed him; two months earlier, South Carolina sent Col. William Rhett into the Cape Fear river, where he surprised and captured Bonnet.

Dread Disease

Typhus is the dread disease that accompanies war. When soap and water and clean clothes are lacking, the parasite which carries typhus—the louse—appears.

Disease-carrying insects — mosquitoes, fleas, lice, ticks—have killed or disabled more American fighting men than many a hard-fought battle.

But today, men in the tropical theaters especially are better protected against these killers than ever before—thanks to amazing new discoveries like DDT.

Spray DDT on a screen—and a fly that walks on that screen three months later dies.

Or take "Aerosol"—a new way of releasing pyrethrum in a gas. One small drop of pyrethrum, when released by means of an aerosol, will kill every "skeeter" in a room 12x12x7 in one minute!

Now the DDT and aerosols are some of the thousand and one things—in addition to the obvious items like guns, tanks, planes, and ships—that are needed to fight the world's biggest and toughest war, and which make this war so terribly expensive.

They're going to spend part of your War Bond money this year for DDT—and other insect killers—some $40,000,000.

That money will save American lives and help shorten the war. It would be a darn good investment even if we never got a cent of it back. But we will get it back—and get more money with it.

Under those circumstances, War Bonds have a mighty strong claim on every dollar you don't have to spend for actual necessities.

Maybe you could find enough of those dollars to buy an extra Bond—today.

em of our time. It seems to me that much of our success in war has come from the sense that every individual has a personal job to do. While there has been a maze of regulation, some necessary, some unnecessary, our strength at home has come wholly from the genius of our free men in industry and the devotion of our workers and our farmers to their jobs. Our success or failure after the war will depend on whether we take to heart the lessons the war has taught us. If we permit the continuance of the regimentation which some so earnestly desire, we shall fail."

A COMPLICATED VEST

Springfield, Ill.—Federal Judge Charles Brigg recently took material for a vest to his tailor. The tailor said he could not make a vest because of a War Production Board order. The Judge wrote a polite letter to WPB concluding with, "Please, may I have a vest?"

Ponderous WPB machinery was then set in motion. The case was referred to the appeal branch of the textile, clothing and leather bureau of the New Deal agency. Eventually, Judge Brigg received a stern letter asking him to explain more in detail his need for a vest.

Wrote the Judge: "My reason for requesting permission to have a vest made was purely on a common sense basis. I own the goods and have enough to make a vest. I thought this situation might appeal to one's ordinary common sense."

WPB replied: "Based on your representations and on the recommendations of the textile and leather bureau and pursuant to paragraph F of Order L 224, the provisions of the above specified paragraph are hereby relaxed to the extent required to permit you to have a vest made from the material you own."
